The Worker's Association of Aarhus has designated Aarhus as the European culture capital with a gift to our city.

HISTORIC TRACKS

Work ethic, professional pride and hard manual labor characterize important values in the genesis of Aarhus. It wasn't the wild Vikings who founded Aarhus, rather tradesmen and women, thralls and laborers.

With The Sculpture Group

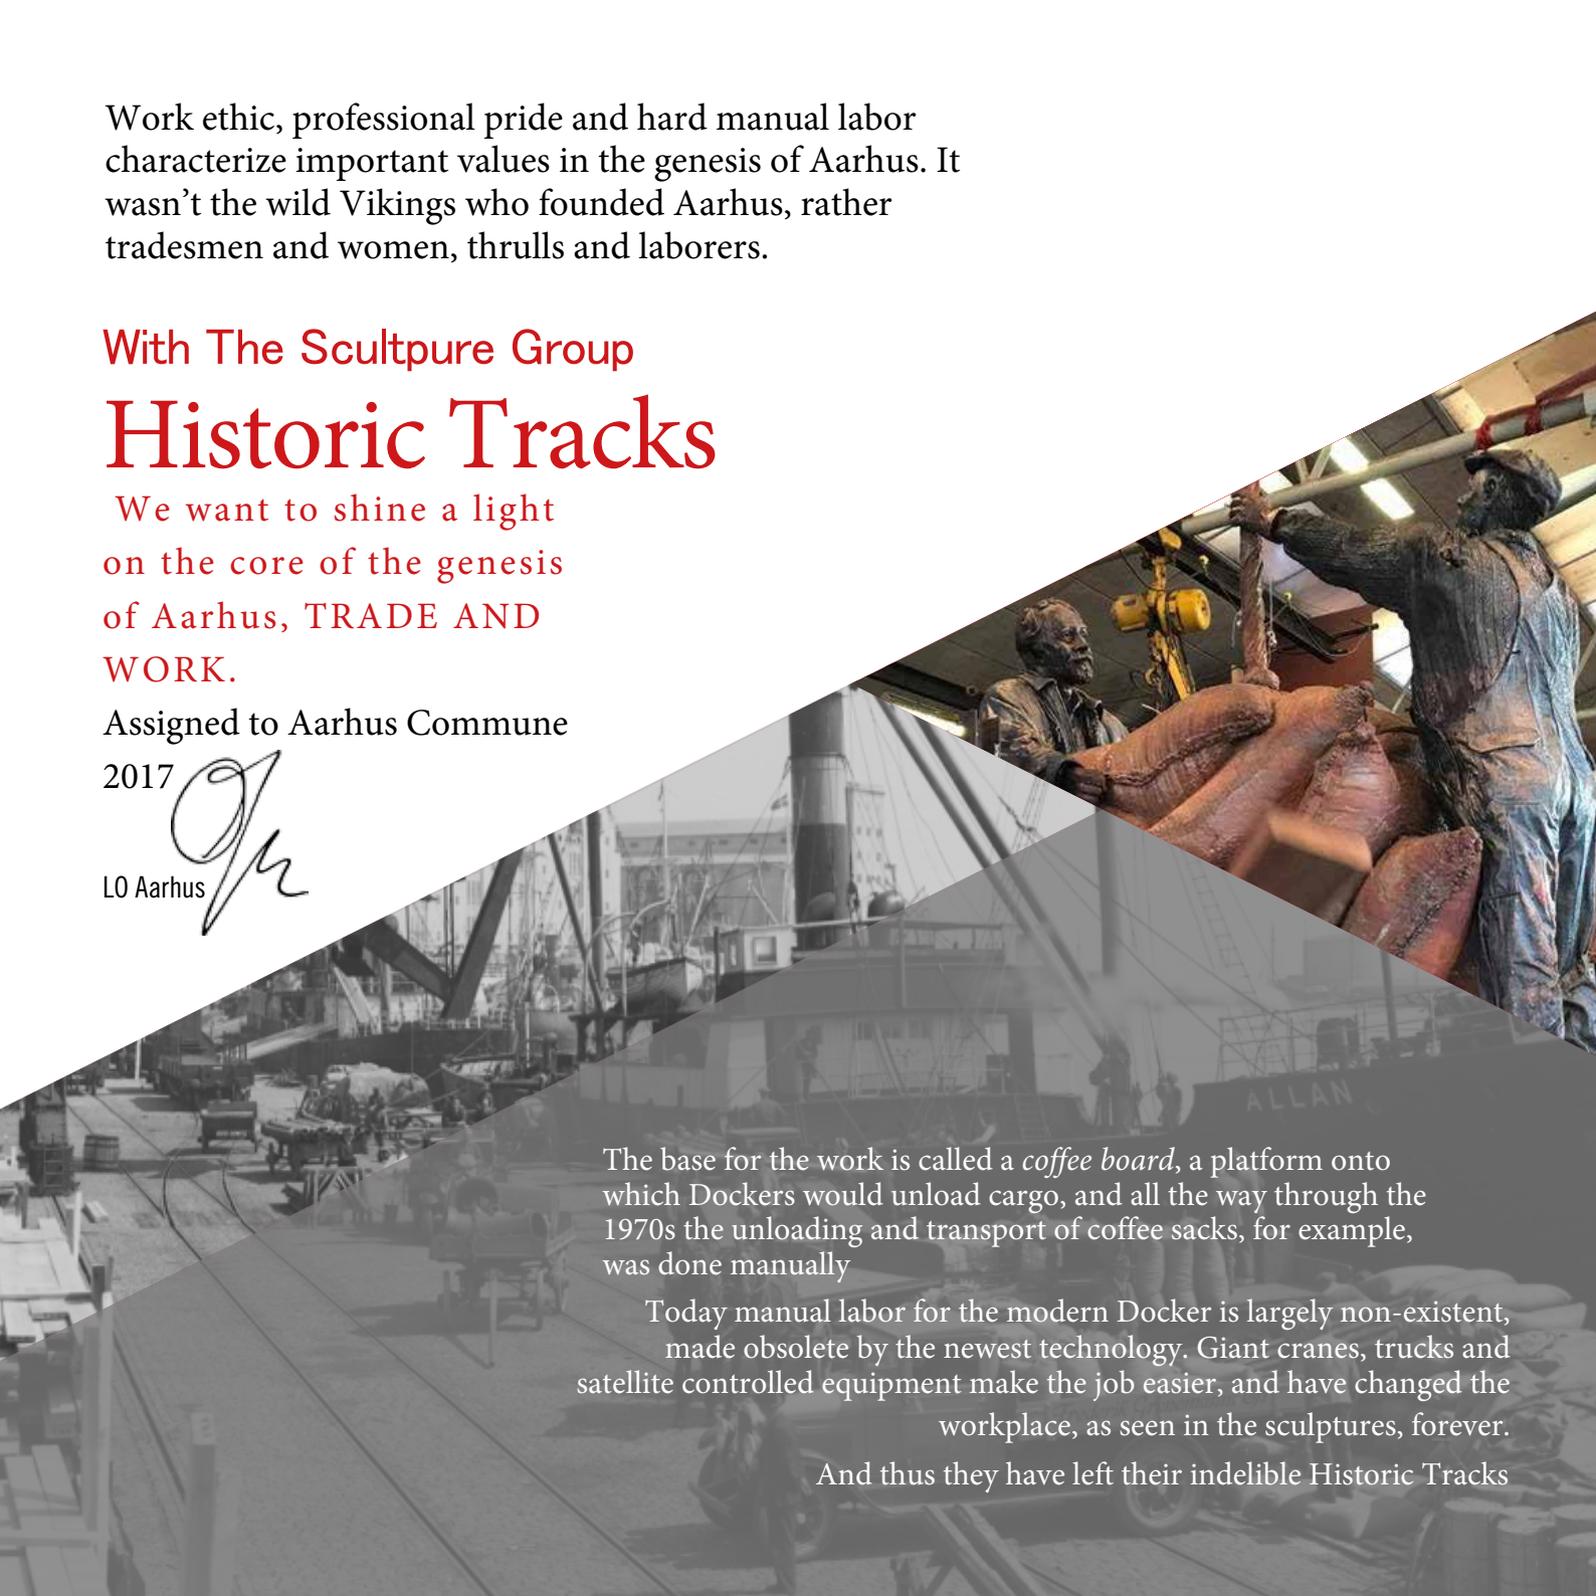

Historic Tracks

We want to shine a light on the core of the genesis of Aarhus, TRADE AND WORK.

Assigned to Aarhus Commune

2017

LO Aarhus

The base for the work is called a coffee board, a platform onto which Dockers would unload cargo, and all the way through the 1970s the unloading and transport of coffee sacks, for example, was done manually

Today manual labor for the modern Docker is largely non-existent, made obsolete by the newest technology. Giant cranes, trucks and satellite controlled equipment make the job easier, and have changed the workplace, as seen in the sculptures, forever.

And thus they have left their indelible Historic Tracks
